

VANITY FAIR

PLUS!

DEES, DRUGS, AND ORGIES IN SILICON VALLEY:
ANOTHER
#METOO
PROBLEM
BY EMILY CHANG

HARVEY WEINSTEIN'S
UGLY CHARITY GRAB

BY WILLIAM D. COHAN

ROSE MCGOWAN
HAS MORE TO SAY

BY EVGENIA PERETZ

LENA DUNHAM'S ENDLESS
APOLOGY TOUR

BY JAMES WOLCOTT

RED, WHITE, AND...EWWW:
TASTING
TRUMP WINE

BY CORBY KUMMER

ALSO!

SPECIAL INVESTIGATION
STAMPEDE:
2,000 DEATHS
IN MECCA

BY WILLIAM LANGEWIESCHE

EMILY

A Spoonful of Brooklyn Glam: World, Meet Your New Mary Poppins

BLUNT

BY JULIE MILLER

PHOTOGRAPHS BY CRAIG McDEAN

"Life shrinks or expands in proportion to one's courage."
—ANNA NIN

FEBRUARY 2018

ACUPUNCTURE FACIAL AT JOHN TSAGARIS

Spending an hour lying horizontally with 60 needles sticking vertically out of your face might not sound like the obvious route to relaxation. Actually, once you've eased into feeling like a metallically reinforced porcupine, it's relatively soothing —although according to acupuncture guru Tsagaris, full relaxation isn't the aim: no small pinpricks of pain, he says, no gain. The theory behind his facials is that the needles puncturing the skin stimulate its natural healing properties, reducing inflammation and encouraging elasticity. The results are pretty immediate. Don't believe us? Ask the celebrities who regularly get the full Tsagaris treatment before stepping out onto the red carpet.